Jackson's Magic Balsam -THE-Great Master of Pain.

IF KEPT IN

Emergency

THE PROOF : ATLANTA, GA., November 18, 1873.

P. Van Alstine, Esq., Barnesville, Ga.:

Dean Sin-You must excuse me for this outburst of praise for your invaluable medicine, and thanks to you for placing it within my reach. Let me tell you about it: To-night, after supper, I was attacked with a very sente pain in my right side. I had felt it coming on for several days, but it did not reach a focus until to-night, and of all intense-pains, it was the worst I ever had. Having intelly your Balsam before for different attments and found it equal to any emergency. I went down suffering me excernicating pain as I went along and paid my last quarter for small bottle of Jackson's Magic Balsam. It was with the greatest difficulty I reached home. The medicine was applied to the husting place, and in a few minutes after the application, I took me pendi, and while I scribber these lines to you the pain has disappeared, leaving me as happy as the assal sun force; and another done of the Magic Treach in the bottle ready for any pain that mis arise. I only wish yes as much good lack as you had not a supplied to the string.

That branch of business heretofore done at Kansas City, Abilene, Junction City, Denison, Wichita and other places, will hereafter be concentrated at Dallas. Its magnitude cannot be estimated, its power can be only gauged by the stomachs of all the Northern and Western cities. Half a million of beeves annually shipped from one point means business. The first pens will be in the vicinity of Captain Jefferson Peak's farm, east of town. The Pacific track will be completed across the river so as to form pens on the west side. Passage from the west to the east side pens will aways be free. Cattle shipped at Dallas can go direct to Little Rock, Memphis, Nashville, St. Louis, Chicago, Indianapolis or elsewhere, west, east or north. Here at the great centre of North Texas will congregate all the cattle of an empire greater than France, to be distributed wherever there are empty stomachs from Bangor, in Maine, to San Francisco.

Dr Pancoast's Final Report on the Oriental Monstrosities - Two Hearts and Two Distinct Organizations .- The Mystery Selved.

to their hearts, toward the solution of which the medical gentlemen are now slowly and tediously approaching, and which finds no place in the official document.

The report of the Herald of Thursday anticipated by just twenty-four hours, the official statement of physicians, which made its first appearance to-day. The pecuhar abnormality of the livers, the union of the two in feetal life, the strange manner is which an injection forced within the mesenteric vein of the other, the interior structure of the connecting link, the rosition of the two pouches, or sacks, evident reflection of the peritoneal membrane and the fact that there existed between the two but a common umbilical cord, ween the two but's common umbulical coun-iween the two but's common umbulical coun-along with the nature of the cartilaginous attackment from the sternum of the one to the sternum of the other, were all fully and the sternum of the other, were all fully and

By the natural laws of homologous union the positions of the hearts are the same. Their apexes incline towards ench other, but, unlike the livers, they could never have been one and the same, or, of course, both, would have died is the same hour. The heart of the property of Chang is spon the right side, and the beart of Chang is spon the left; hence that of one is strangely and abnormally pieced. Finds injected into the heart of the other, as was the the case when the livers, located was the bond of union, were operated spon. This is the last fact which establishes the individuality of each. In, life their sympathies, passions, emotions, inclinations, and personal habits were decidedly and sadly estranged, and this circumstance alone, without any keen anatomical scrutiny, would have shown the individuality of their heart and brain. Two individuality of their from different extremes of the world could have passed through the number of years alletted to the twins with less disagreement and conflict than these two incongruous, unsympathetic children, forced constantly to bear each other's burdens and complaints.

A Novel Case. - Some few days since a bill wa served upon James D. Collins, the Clerk of the Su erior Court of this county, which certainly seeks to ffect rather a novel purpose, at least we have neve h eard of just such a case. The complainants in the bill are Messrs. Buck and Spencer. The prayer of the bill is for an injunction restraining the said James D. Collins from preventing a Mr R D Atwater, the agent of Messrs Buck & Spencer, from having free access to the books of record in his (the Clerk's) office It seems that sometime since Mr. Atwater present d himself in the Cie k's office, and commenci with the oldest began making a complete transcrip of every record in it. Mr. Atwater was as regular in his attendance as the Cierk himself, and worke away from morning until night. When he had fin-ished the first volume and gotten half through the second, the Clerk stopped him, and told him he could go no further.

The clerk's position, and it seems to us a sound one, is, that although the books in his office are open to the inspection of the public, the law does not contemplate any such inspection as Mr. Atwater was making, that the preparation of such transcripts, whether to use themselves or to have published, is depriving him of his legal fees of ten cents per one hundred words for each transcript.

That if Mesers. Buck and Spencer were to pay all fees the law required, they have no right to send into bis office an agent, but should obtain a'l their transcrips from him. That there is no law requiring hi to furnish their agent with office room fuel and s dask either with or without compensation The case to us looks very dublous for the com
